

LOOKING AHEAD 2010

» culture

ART Art brush 2010

T Venkanna in March 2010 at Gallery Maskara will have his second solo show, comprising of large format paintings, sculptural installation, and works on paper. He will be part of a Gallery Saatchi show in London titled Empire Strikes Back: Indian Art Today that opens on Jan 29, 2010. Project 88, in keeping with its tradition of bringing funky art to Bombay city, will bring us "The making of..." by Britta Lange & Philip Scheffner. The meeting of German researchers and imprisoned soldiers from the English, French and Russian army in German prisoner of war camps during the First World War, here is a great way to watch history unfold as we jigger-naut into a new decade of a relatively new millennium. The show will focus on the so-called "Half Moon Camp" in Wünsdorf near Berlin, in which mostly Indian and North-African "colonial soldiers" had been imprisoned from 1914 to 1918.